

A black and white line drawing of a banner with the text "Peace on earth". The banner is held up by two hands, one on the left and one on the right. The background features stylized trees and decorative elements. The text is written in a large, bold, cursive font. The banner is rectangular and has a slightly wavy bottom edge. The hands are simple line drawings with fingers spread. The background has vertical lines representing tree trunks and some circular patterns. There are also some decorative elements like small hanging ornaments on the sides of the banner.
