

A black and white line drawing of a stained glass window. The design features a central circular sunburst pattern radiating from a central circle. This is surrounded by three stylized flower or sunburst motifs. The entire design is enclosed within a decorative border. Below this main panel is a rectangular section containing the word "SEPTEMBER" in large, bold, outlined letters. The bottom half of the window features a repeating geometric pattern of diamond shapes and curved lines, resembling a stylized floral or mandala motif. The entire window is set against a background of a grid-like frame, suggesting it is a window pane.
